

Clustering For Setting

Writers get advised to add sensory details and to “show, don’t tell” so often that those bits of advice have become nearly meaningless. What do sensory details and showing writing mean in YOUR story? Here’s an example of a cluster that helped me cement the details of my setting before I ever wrote a word.

